[The image shows a single page from an ancient manuscript, likely written in Sanskrit or a related Indic script. The text is densely packed in horizontal lines across the page. Due to the low resolution and age of the document, the specific characters are difficult to decipher accurately. The script appears to be a form of Devanagari or similar Indic alphabet. There are some larger, possibly decorative or significant characters interspersed throughout the text.]

Handwritten marginal notes in a smaller script, likely a commentary or a list of items, running vertically along the left edge of the main text block.

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a form of Indic script such as Devanagari or Grantha. The text is organized into approximately 10 horizontal lines. The first line begins with a large, bold character that appears to be 'ॐ' (Om), followed by a series of characters. The script is dense and fluid, with some characters showing signs of being ligatures or abbreviations. The text is written on a light-colored background, possibly parchment or paper, and is enclosed within a simple rectangular border.

[The image shows a single page from an ancient manuscript, likely Tibetan or Sanskrit. The text is written in a dense, cursive script across multiple horizontal lines. There are several large, bold characters at the beginning of some lines, which appear to be section markers or initial letters. The ink is dark, and the paper has a yellowish, aged appearance. The handwriting is very close together, filling most of the page area.]

Vertical text on the left margin, likely a library or collection stamp.

Handwritten text in a historical script, possibly Tibetan or Sanskrit, arranged in approximately 10 horizontal lines. The script is dense and cursive, with some characters appearing to be in a different script or dialect than the main body of text. The text is written on a light-colored, aged paper with some visible wear and tear.
